

SEPTEMBER 2019

Good Morning

Back to school time ! The Summer break seems to go faster every year. The weather is so mixed and its affecting different products, so while there is a good potato crop and fingers crossed it continues to the main crop at the end of October, there is a shortage of certain vegetable especially cauliflower and broccoli but as usual it will sort itself out. Over the next few months things can really get hard i.e Brexit higher prices and fuel is a possibility, lets hope things can be sorted out sensibly! Good buys this month will be English fruit and salads with good prices and good quality. There is a shortage of sweet potatoes because of the severe weather in the US, North America is the largest supplier followed by Guatemala, Mexico and Honduras the UK is down 20% of the usual supply, this is following on from Hurricane Florence in the US last September and also a very heavy increase in demand.
