

MAY 2024

Good Morning

Still struggling with root veg because of the weather, the fields are sodden so we need sunshine and wind to dry them out, farmers are well behind because they cannot sow the wet and sludge fields. Prices apart from Jacket potatoes seem to have stabilised so fingers crossed. Good buys are cauliflower, all cabbage, leeks, carrots, parsnips but the carrots and parsnips will be short towards the end of the month. I was in Spain last week visiting growers and they are complaining because of the lack of water, indeed / to 4 days last week we had 30 deg. So problems all over Europe, still we will sort things out. Dutch produce is coming through now and of course its first class but expensive, remember quality makes it cheaper! So lets hope for better weather for the Spring Bank Holiday which in turn will increase sales!

Kind Regards
